CAMBRIDGE DIRECTORY

AND

ALMANAC

FOR

1852.

BY JOHN FORD,

PUBLISHER OF THE CAMBRIDGE CHRONICLE.

---

CAMBRIDGE:

PRINTED AT THE CHRONICLE OFFICE.

1852.

PREFACE.

ANOTHER new year brings the period of our annual salutation. We need not say that the appearance of the Cambridge Directory has become an event as necessary and as much to be expected as the advent of the new year itself.

The following pages will indicate some at least of the many changes which the past year has wrought. But among them all there is perhaps no more noticeable indication than the abundant evidence which is furnished of the spirit of healthful progress and prosperity which has prevailed. While our limits have been extending, our population increasing, and our real estate rising in value, there has been no forcing or unnatural urging of our resources. The value of our real property has been steadily increasing, and has not suffered from those spasmodic excitements or depressions to which some communities have been exposed.

The past year has witnessed the opening of the Cambridge Athenæum—an institution which promises the most beneficial results to our citizens. Other improvements, general in their nature and important in their influence, are worthy of notice, but our present limits forbid.

We have endeavored to use all possible care in the preparation of the following pages, and we doubt not as each year renders the Directory more indispensable to our citizens, it will be found to be of increasing value.

We regret to be compelled to add that the enterprise has as yet been far less profitable to us than to the public, and should our sales prove as limited the present year as formerly, we shall be forced to raise the price of the next number. The difficulty would be, however, entirely obviated should we be able to place one copy—which we most certainly should do—in each family in the city.

Among the changes which have been made since last year, we may notice the addition of one thousand eight hundred and twenty eight new names, and seven hundred and twenty six alterations, which changes show the importance of a new issue of the Directory every year.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1851, by JOHN FORD,
In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the District of Mass.

CAMBRIDGE PUBLIC LIBRARY

HOPKINS CLASSICAL SCHOOL.

—ON—

DANA HILL.

At this School, boys may be thoroughly prepared for College or fitted for Mercantile and Scientific employments.

It is now more than thirteen years since the Subscriber first commenced teaching in Cambridge, and during this time he has had under his tuition more than two hundred different pupils, very many of whom have spent from four to seven years in the School. Some of them may already be found filling the most honourable and responsible situations as Professional men, Teachers and Merchants.

The very liberal patronage hitherto bestowed upon the School, affords evidence that his untiring efforts to render it worthy of patronage have been appreciated ; and he hopes, by a continuance of these efforts and by the employment of able and faithful assistants, to merit a continuance of public favor.

The School is subjected to thorough semi-annual examinations by the President and Professors of Harvard College so that parents placing their children at this School, have every assurance, that no omissions or defects on the part of the Teachers, will pass unobserved.

The arrangements of the School are such, that every pupil will be advanced as rapidly as he is prepared for it, without regard to classes, and in no case will the number of pupils be allowed to increase beyond the ability of the Teachers to render them thorough instruction.

Visitors are at all times welcomed to the School. Applications for admission may be made, either at the School Room, between the hours of nine and two, in term time, or at the residence of the Subscriber, corner of Cross and Centre Streets, Cambridgeport.

E. B. WHITMAN, A. M., Principal.
